Child and Family Studies Concentration Options 2018-2019

Child Development and Family Relations (CDFR)
- Can be completed 100% online
- Requires a minor
- Requires a field service course
- Requires an internship
- 123 total hours*

A CFS degree does not lead to teacher licensure. However, this concentration is ideal for students who want to pursue a career in teaching following graduation. The most applicable alternative certification options are:
- Early Childhood (grades PK-3)
- Elementary (grades 1-5)
- FACS (grades 6-12)

Consumer Services (CS)
- Can be completed 100% online
- Requires a minor
- Requires an internship
- 123 total hours*

This concentration is best suited for students who are interested in starting a business related to children and families. While the majority of coursework is focused on child and family studies, students also take courses in business, finance, and management.

Advocacy and Intervention (coming fall 2019)
- Can be completed 100% online
- Requires a minor
- Requires an internship
- 123 total hours*

This concentration will allow students to graduate with their provisional Certified Family Life Educator (CFLE) Credential. This concentration will be ideal for students who want to help families experiencing a crisis, such as abuse, deployment, divorce, economic hardship, stress/trauma, and violence.

---

Northwestern State University  •  School of Education

salmanr@nsula.edu  •  (318) 357-4202

with a minor in Social Science